

Finish Line

© 2022

Lyricist: Alice Vo Edwards

When at last my race is done
And I cross that finish line
And come into my own
In that place I'm fully known
What a great and sweet relief
To at long last-then-be done
What a day that will be
Finally, and totally free

But if, when I do go home
You're still down here, alone
Remember my destination
Let that be your consolation

Weep not for me, for I have won
It was a good and a hard race
But at long last, I am done
Weep not, it's joy in this place

I will see you still, and pray
When your own hard race is won
That you'll join me here one day
And this is where we'll stay

Your finish line is near or far
No matter how great the distance
Roads can be hard, but you're a star
There's a point to our existence
When we reach the other side
We will find that that destination
Yes, it's worth the effort tried
And the world that once seemed crazy
May begin to make some sense

The effort we gave wasn't lazy
We will see it's really immense

Weep not for me, for I have won
It was a good and a hard race
But at long last, I am done
Weep not, it's joy in this place

I will see you still, and pray
When your own hard race is won
That you'll join me here one day
And this is where we'll stay

So no, please don't weep for me
If I'm the first to cross the line for I know together we will be
When your race is won in time

Weep not for me, for I have won
It was a good and a hard race
But at long last, I am done
Weep not, it's joy in this place

I will see you still, and pray
When your own hard race is won
That you'll join me here one day
And this is where we'll stay
I have won, I have won

I will see you still, and pray
When your own hard race is won
That you'll join me here one day
And this is where we'll stay
